In writing a piece for "Publishers Auxiliary". I ran into a reproduction of the first American newspaper, called "Public Occurrences." It was only about 6 by 9 inches, but the type faces looked about the same as most newspaper still run their public notices and to some extent their straight matter.

Most newspaper typography has changed vastly to greater readability like the 9 and 12 - point sizes used in your Herald.

But it is amazing that so many legals still look like they might have come right out of the Sept. 25, 1690 edition of "Public Occurrences" which was handset and lasted only a few issues. And for that matter, so much of the reading copy in too many of the nation's 8,000 non-dailies and 1750 dailies.

To this extent, television has done the print media some good. Even mediocre pictures are better than a 1,000 words difficult to read.

Middle East War Reveals New Tactics

By Bernard Edinger

TEL AVIV

Reuter -- A wide-sweeping revision in military theories is anticipated by western military experts in Israel as a result of the latest Arab-Israeli conflict.

They say the results of the war will have at least as much impact on concepts of warfare as did the Spanish Civil War of 1936-1939, where the blueprints were laid down for such tactics as mass bombings from the air.

Like Spain in the past, the Sinai Desert and the Golan Heights have served as a testing ground both for the movement of large forces and mainly for the use, in live battle conditions, of some of the most modern military gadgetry available.

According to the experts, a foremost lesson of the war, even more important than the efficiency of infra-red guiding equipment or ultra-modern missiles, is that the cost of modern warfare is beyond the reach of most countries, save those with direct supply lines to the two super powers.

In the first days of the conflict, the Israeli finance minister, Pinhas Sapir, estimated that the war was costing Israel the equivalent of $170,000 every minute.

In global strategy, the experts believe this will force a number of important political decisions, particularly in western Europe where the choice between strengthened military ties with the United States or a common European defense policy -- and budget -- have yet to be clearly defined.

The experts believe that the principal revelation of the conflict was that armored forces could be slowed down or even checked by infantry massively equipped with light, but highly efficient, anti-tank weapons if the infantry men enjoyed a degree of cover from the air.

The Israeli jets which attempted to sweep the terrain where the Egyptians entrenched themselves after crossing the Suez Canal on October 6 were met by a hail of SAM 6 ground-to-air missiles from the other side of the canal. These proved highly effective against low flying aircraft on strafing missions, the experts said.

With uncertain cover from the air, the first Israeli tank crews to counter-attack the Egyptians said they had the impression every third Egyptian soldier was equipped with an anti-tank missile.

This was probably an exaggeration, but they had apparently been concerned by the Egyptians' deadly use of the wire-guided Sagger missile. It has an effective range of 3,000 yards, is easily fired and guided from the ground or an armored car, with a lethal hollow charge that can apparently pierce every known armor.

Fired in batches by infantrymen safety hidden up to 15 yards from the portable launcher, they are believed by the experts to have accounted for many Israeli tanks in the first counter-attacks.

The introduction in Syrian, and particularly in Egyptian ranks, of the Soviet-made Sagger, is believed by the experts to have caused changes in Israeli plans and with the Egyptian missile cover, to be one of the reasons Israel landed a force in mainland Egypt before systematically taking on the Egyptian units already entrenched on the east bank of the waterway.

The halting of Israeli armor and the interdiction of air space by the missile batteries forced the Israeli central staff, renowned over the past quarter century for its imagination to devise a new plan.

The plan was crossing of the Suez Canal to the Egyptian rear by what was initially a small task force armed at "taking out the missiles."

"This is the first time in military history that a ground force has been used to clear the terrain in order that air support might be brought in to permit that same ground force to in turn operate under cover of an air umbrella," one foreign military attache said.

The actual crossing of the canal itself by the Israelis is still shrouded in mystery, and foreign experts are extremely eager to get a look at what is believed to be highly perfected bridging equipment whose existence anywhere was unknown until now.

To reach the canal bank itself and launch the operation, the Israelis are believed to have outwitted the Egyptian staff by a combination of massed show of armor and other secret measures, the western experts said here.

With the entire east canal bank occupied by the Egyptians at that stage of the war, the Israeli forces used their armor in the hope of drawing the Egyptians out while announcing to the world that one of the great battles in history was in progress.

Leaking Roof Due Repairs

ROSEBUD

The contractor for the new Rosebud-Lott high school building has agreed to repair the roof and stop the water leaks that have plagued the school trustees. If the repairs to be undertaken are successful in stopping the leaks, then the contractor will repair the damage done by past water leaks. In case the proposed repairs do not stop the leaking, the board of trustees has other viable alternatives which will insure that the new building has a good roof which will not leak.

UFO Spotted Near Georgetown

GEORGETOWN

An Unidentified Flying Object was reported between Weir and Walburg. A young woman told the Georgetown newspaper she was awakened by a "strangeness" she could not explain. She got out of bed and went to the kitchen window and looking out she saw an extremely bright light, "bright as a sunny day" shining toward the ground from an object in the air between the house and barn. It made no noise. A teenage member of the family told of being suddenly awakened the night before by a humming noise which she never found.

Police Network Funded

HEARNE

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has approved awarding of a grant for $296,555 to the Brazos Valley Development Council for the installation of a region-wide communications system. The grant comes from the Texas Criminal Justice Council. The state grant coupled with $108,066 local money will defray the cost of the new police network system.

Building Permits Booming

ROCKDALE

Eight speculative homes now under construction in Rockdale have boosted 1973 building permits through October, to a whopping $1,817,840, already a record one-year total here. The year 1973 was destined to become the all-time tops for construction in Rockdale when a $1,462,668 building permit for the new Richards Memorial Hospital went into the city books in August. Since then construction activity has continued to be brisk.

Parks Group Recommends Lake Cleanup

Members of the park committee of the City Planning Commission met with the commission Thursday evening to present recommendations for rehabilitation of Wilson-Ledbetter Park.

It was noted that the Lions Club has set aside funds since 1971 for matching with city funds for the park rehab. The funds were to have been matched by the state Parks and Wildlife Department.

A first estimate by P&W set the cost of rehabbing the park at some $88,000, but this is felt to be much too high for the city and civic club to handle.

At Thursday's meeting, it was recommended that the lake at the park be cleaned out, and efforts be made to find out where the lake water is seeping out. The lake will not hold water at this time.

A. W. McCullin, chairman of the planning commission, said the park committee, headed by Ed Laywell, has met with interested groups who now use the park including scouts, riding club, and others, to have recommendations from them about the park. A representative of P&W has looked at the park and recommended that the lake be cleaned out before application for state funds is made.

Rabid Skunks Killed Near Walkers Creek

Two rabid skunks were caught and killed over last weekend and Dr. Robert Tittsworth warns residents to be on the lookout for strange behavior in wild animals.

The skunks were both found in the Walkers Creek area on the Hearne highway.

The veterinarian also advised having pets immunized against rabies.

Funeral Service Held For Mrs. W. O. Triggs

Funeral service for Mrs. W. O. "Bess" Triggs was held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the First United Methodist Church in Cameron. Mrs. Triggs died at 11:30 p.m. at Brooke General Hospital in San Antonio where she was being treated for severe burns suffered when her clothing caught fire Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Triggs was attempting to light a bathroom heater when the accident happened.

A native of Maysfield, Mrs. Triggs lived near and in Cameron all her life. She attended Cameron schools and was a graduate of the University of Texas.

Mrs. Triggs taught in the Cameron schools for years and was also a member of the Cameron school board. She was a recipient of the McCullin Civic Award, served on the book selection committee of the Cameron Public Library and taught a Sunday School class at the nursing home for a number of years.

Active in welfare work, she was a member of the Cameron Welfare Board and Church Women United. She had served as president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church. She was also a charter member of the History Club.

Rev. Perry Richardson officiated at the service and burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery. She is survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

Great Response For Good Turn

Goodwill Industries of Waco reports the "Good Turn Day" was a big success in this region, with 11,000 bags of donations collected during the recent drive.

The scouts are still collecting bags in the 14-county area. The scouts collect repairable clothing and household articles to be used in Goodwill's rehabilitation workshop through the year in training the handicapped to become self-supporting.

The discarded collected will be used in Goodwill's rehabilitation facility to teach employment skills to handicapped people. The reconditioned items are sold in one of eight Goodwill thrift stores located in Waco, Temple, Killeen, Hillsboro and Harker Heights to pay wages to the handicapped.

School Board To Meet

The Cameron school trustees will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the Ben Milam School. The time has been changed from 8 p.m., and the meeting day from Thursday to Monday for this month's meeting.

Poage Cites Fuel Shortage

WASHINGTON

Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, of the House Committee on Agriculture, said today that the new mandatory allocation program on diesel, kerosene and other so-called middle distillate fuels apparently was put into effect with little forethought and is in urgent need of revision.

The Congressional leader expressed his views when complaints began to pour into the Committee shortly after the program went into effect Nov. 1. Calls came from farmers who had run out of diesel for their tractors and other machinery and found their suppliers also out of fuel. Heretofore there has been a voluntary allocation program in effect.

Under the new program, which was set up by the Energy Policy Office in the White House and administered by the Office of Oil and Gas (OOG) in the Interior Department, generally speaking, users of tractor fuels are to receive allocations this month based on the amount of fuel they used in November of 1972.

Congressman Poage pointed out that because of heavy rains in Texas in November of 1972, the amount of fuel many farmers used was far less than the amount they need this month.

"Failure to place agriculture high in a priority list of users for diesel fuel and failure to recognize that farm uses will peak at different times on different years depending on the weather indicates that this program must have been hastily or at least inadequately considered and formulated," said Chairman Poage.

"Since there is no system of priorities, the suppliers all along the line can and likely will fill the orders of their old customers. This could even mean fuel going to power a merry-go-round in an amusement park while a tractor stood idle in the middle of a farm 10 miles away because it ran out of diesel."

Congressman Poage took the matter up with Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, urging him to do all he can to take whatever action is necessary to assure that fuel is made available for harvesting crops still standing in the fields and to plow for next year's plantings.

Sheriff Reports Fatal Shooting

Dan Julian Bradley, 44, of 406 Scott St., was killed by three bullet wounds in the face, throat and chest at 12:30 p.m. Saturday in a private home on North Emancipation St. His companion, Calvin Henderson, 23, of Rt. 2, Cameron, was charged with murder.

Sheriff Carl Black said the altercation apparently started with an argument over a card game at James Phillips house on Emancipation. Bradley, who had been charged and later no-billed in the March 14 death of Annie Mae Boyd, was shot with a Mauser army rifle.

New Sources...

Governor Briscoe told the White House the other day Texas couldn't produce anymore oil and gas than it is. About 20 governors, plus metro city mayors and other regional figures met with the President over the energy problem.

What Texas can produce is more energy through lignite like that in Milam County and in coal from basic coal-producing states.

Ecologists are going to scream, but unless they are the first willing to use candlepower, cut air-conditioning and heat needs to what would now be considered as uncivilized minimum, they are going to see soot again in the air until new energy sources are developed.

We want to see nature restored and clean air. But the vast apparatus of this country must also be kept moving, not just to please men of industry or men of nature, but the people who live here.

Milam County may be contributing another small oil field. Perhaps the big one prospectors have been seeking here for 50 years. If it is, its yield will find a ready market.

For the most part, oil exploration is expensive and continuous and can't be pushed beyond the present 100 per cent of proration. The Governor knows this.

Pleasing The Arabs...

Half a Nobel Prize his, Henry Kissinger may again have constructed detente between warring adversaries in the Middle East.

A five-point agreement has been found plausible to Egypt and Israeli leaders, leading to hope for a permanent ceasefire in December.

Secretary of State Kissinger was going through the Middle East last week on a tour that was not expected to yield such prospect. Yet it did.

Joseph Sisco, an able undersecretary of state, worked, in effect, "one side of the street" while Kissinger worked the other, if not both sides.

Fifth point of the proposed settlement is that both sides will meet to settle the final agreements. Four points up to that call for abatement of pressures by prisoner exchange, channeling aid to the trapped 3rd Egyptian Army, among others.

Kissinger undoubtedly functions better under diplomatic pressure than any man State has had in decades. This agreement came almost the same day the House was overriding a Presidential veto on White House warmaking powers, an effort they had tried six or seven times on other

GE Contract To Provide Police Radio

The Central Texas Council of Governments has contracted General Electric Mobile Radio Department to supply two-way radio equipment to city and county police forces in its seven member counties.

The equipment procurement marks the beginning of the Central Texas regional law enforcement communication system established under guidelines set forth by the Texas Governor's Criminal Justice Council.

The contract with General Electric calls for more than 130 four-channel MASTR Professional two-way radio 56 eight-frequency PE Series hand-held radios as well as base stations, command control consoles, MASTR Controller remote control units, towers and emergency generators.

All mobile radios will be equipped with Priority Search Lock Monitor, permitting a police vehicle to monitor channels other than the one to which it is assigned. The PSLM circuit alternately samples each frequency in a multiple-frequency system at a rapid rate and the receiver locks in when the signal is heard. However, when a signal appears on each department's designated priority channel, the receiver instantly reverts to that channel and stays there until the message ends.

The broad approach to regional systems planning and procurement, backed by built-in provisions for individual local considerations, has resulted in new public safety benefits for many communities in the state.

Argentina Now Feeling Shortages

By Simon Muller

BUENOS AIRES
Reuter -- Even Argentina one of the world's great meat and grain exporters, is not escaping worldwide beef and wheat shortages.

But here the shortages are apparently due to artificial causes, and government officials have claimed "political maneuvers" are behind them.

They are embarrassing the government as Gen. Juan Peron returns to power after nearly 18 years exile, with big plans to boost cattle and wheat productions.

Apart from meat and grain, onions, chickens and potatoes have also been scarce in the markets of Buenos Aires for several weeks.

Flour mills have temporarily shut down in the capital, meat consumption has dropped, bakeries, have been fire-bombed and a huge grain elevator caught fire-- apparently sabotaged. In the most dramatic episode, protesting slaughterhouse workers sent 3,000 cattle stampeding through the streets.

When more than a dozen flour mills shut down last month for lack of grain it was the first time this had happened since 1952, when drought ruined the wheat harvest and forced Argentines to eat millet bread.

Meanwhile, meat consumption in Buenos Aires, which includes more than 30 per cent of the nation's 25 million population, dropped in a few days to half its normal average of 15 pounds per month, while exports sagged.

Officials blamed the shortages on an "orchestrated maneuver" apparently aimed at embarrassing the Peronist government before the September 25, elections swept Peron to the presidency.

Earlier the government had denounced the wheat scarcity as a national scandal in a country which according to official figures, exported more than 7,600,000 tons of wheat during the first eight months of the year.

It said Argentina's former military rulers had critically reduced stocks by permitting over-hasty export of an extra one million tons of wheat before handing over power to the Peronists in May.

Threatened by a bread shortage in the capital, the government went shopping for 450,000 tons of U. S. wheat, paying far higher prices on the world market than the earlier exports earned.

The embarrassment was intensified when the number one grain elevator in Buenos Aires port was badly damaged by fire as the first shipload arrived. It was reported to have been the fourth such fire within two weeks with the loss of three lives and damage totalling $2.5 million.

There has been no official explanation for the fires, or for a simultaneous wave of attacks on bakeries, although there have been reports of a feud among dockers unions to decide who should handle the incoming grain.

The meat shortage is equally paradoxical for a nation which boasts 50 million head of cattle -- twice the human population -- and regards meat as one of its main foreign currency earners.

Its roots appear to lie partly in the government policy of keeping down prices in all sectors, and ending the traditional large meat consumption of the people of Buenos Aires in a bid to release more meat for export.

But equally important is the governments attempt to cut out middle men in the meat trade, whom it claims have "distorted" prices.

A decree barred more than 500 Buenos Aires butchers from buying cattle for private slaughter and subsequent distribution. It handed their activities over to big freezing companies previously engaged in exports only.

Simultaneously, the government ordered sales at the giant Liniers cattle market which supplies the capital to be reduced from more than 100,000 to 52,000 head weekly.

Job Corps Offers Second Chance

A second chance is waiting for unemployed, out-of-school young men and women 16-21 who want to learn an occupation that pays. The name of the chance is "Job Corps," says the Texas Employment Commission.

"Openings exist now for young men and women who would like to improve themselves and qualify for jobs in the labor market of today," says J. V. Owens, Office Manager of the Texas Employment Commission in Temple.

Enrollees in this residential training program receive room and board, medical and dental care, work clothing, a nominal allowance, and other benefits, Owens explained.

"Job Corps strengthens basic educational skills and offers a wide range of vocational training in job skills which are in demand today," Owens says. "In addition, personal development is encouraged through sports, music, hobbies, student government and recreation."

The length of training depends on the individual, some completing the training program within a year, and others taking up to two years.

The Texas Employment Commission interviews and screens applicants for Job Corps opening and sends the applications to Job Corps headquarters for selection and assignment.

Most enrollees can be assigned to a Center in Texas, either at Camp Gary at San Marcos, for young men, or at McKinney, for young women.

Interested applicants should contact the Texas

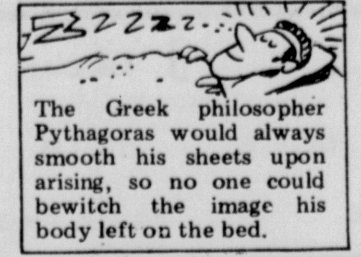

Employment Commission office, 301 West Avenue G, Temple, for more detailed information.

Modern Agriculture Vital To US And World Economy

By Christine Laws

Modern agriculture is vital to the U. S. and world economy. Although recent supply and demand conditions have resulted in increased food prices, today's wholesome foods are still a bargain compared to most other items.

Agriculture today is much more than farming and ranching. It includes production, of course, but it also includes supply and service industries that aid producers with fertilizers, seed, machinery and information. And marketing and distribution are other phases of the complex system required to move goods from producers to consumers.

Texas consumers spent about $6.4 billion last year at food stores and eating and drinking establishments for wholesome and nutritious foods. In the U. S., food retailing last year topped the nation's retail industry.

Marketing, processing and distribution costs of food have also increased in recent months, and some shortages of food items are evident.

Yet, consumers around the world would gladly exchange life styles and living standards with most Americans, who are still the envy of those in other nations. No where else do consumers have nearly 8,000 food items to select from at the supermarket.

To satisfy our nation's food and fiber needs -- as well as meet overseas commitments -- will require a strengthened agricultural complex in the years ahead. Today's leaders point out that the future success of our nation and the world depends on our agricultural leadership.

Thus, the Land-Grant University system -- with its agricultural research, teaching and informal education -- has served consumers well, but the greatest challenge lies in the years ahead.

It is appropriate that during November, consumers pause to count their blessings and express appreciation for quality food and fiber products.

Tigers Might Claws Yoemen

The Cameron Yoemen felt the claws of the Belton Tigers Friday night as the Tigers clawed their way to a 27-6, North Zone Title victory. The use of a powerful defense and an explosive offense assured the Tigers of a bout with the Rockdale Tigers next week for the District 12-AAA Title.

It looked as if the contest would be totally a defensive effort, with no team able to sustain a drive during the first quarter. However, with 1:56 remaining in the first quarter, Belton received good field position on the Yoe 46 yard line following a punt from the Yoe 14.

It took the Tigers 12 plays to drive the 46 yards for the touchdown and the drive was capped as Joe Lindeman plunged over from the 2, Williams kicked the extra point and with 7:53 remaining in the second quarter Belton moved to a 7-0 lead.

Key plays in the drive were: 11 yard screen pass from Mark Brooks to Mike Miller down to the Yoe 30, and another screen pass to David Murray on the following play.

With 4:36 left in the first half, the Yoemen, returned a punt to their own 41 and began their best drive of the first half.

The Yoemen attacked the Belton ends with quick pitches to Jafus White, Willie Bell, and Lorenzo Majors, to move the ball down to the Belton 30 yard line. On fourth down and ten, the drive ended as quarterback Gene Kopriva was dropped for a loss back to the Belton 39.

With 41 seconds remaining in the first half of play, the Tigers took over at this point. On the first play, the Yoe defense was stunned as Belton halfback David Murray passed to Mike Miller for 61 yards and a Tiger touchdown. Williams kicked the extra point, and what seemed to be only a 7-0 halftime lead, changed to a 14-0 Tiger lead.

The third quarter seemed like a repeat of the first, with neither team lighting the scoreboard. Belton came close, however, but Williams' 49 yard field goal attempt fell short.

The Yoemen received the ball on their own 20, and began their attempt to get back in the ball game. It almost seemed possible, as the Yoemen drove 80 yards in 13 plays. Yoe fullback George Whiteside added to his 39 yard run during the drive as he scored from the one eight plays later.

The Yoemen tried for a two point conversion, but Kopriva was stopped by the Tiger defense. With 8:08 remaining in the games, the Yoemen cut the Tiger lead to 14-6.

However, Yoe hopes of a victory were almost crushed as the Tigers scored on their next possession of the ball. Belton aided by two 15 yard penalties against Cameron, drove 68 yards for the touchdown. The score came on an 11 yard pass from Roy Steger to Miller.

Three plays after the kick-off, Miller intercepted a Yoe aerial. With only seconds remaining, Lindeman raced 11 yards for the final touchdown. Lindeman's run brought the final score to 27-6 in favor of the Tigers.

The leading yard gainer was Cameron's George Whiteside with 84 yards. Whiteside's carries moved him across the thousand yard mark with 1,047 yards.

The Tigers were led by the running of Joe Lindeman with 67 yards, and Grant Critchfield with 28.

Both defenses must be given some credit for holding each others backs to less than a 100 yards rushing. Whiteside, Critchfield, and Lindeman all average around 100 yards per game.

JV, Freshmen, See Action Thursday

Thursday night the Yoe Junior varsity and Freshmen suffered losses to the Belton Tigers. The Freshmen were defeated, 9-6, and the JV was defeated by the score of 21-0. The losses brought the Freshmen record to 2-5-0, and the JV record now stands at 5-3-1.

During the Freshmen game, Cameron scored first on a 52 yard run off right tackle by Greg Kelley. The score came on Cameron's first offensive play of the game, and with 7:52 left in the first quarter, the Yoe Freshmen led 6-0.

Belton bounced back with a 54 yard run by Otis Welch, following the Yoe kick-off. The Tiger's extra point was good, and they captured a 7-6 quarter lead.

There was no other scoring during the second and third quarters, due to a good defensive effort by both teams. Leading the Yoe defense was: John Schmidt, Clay Kruse, and Julian Martinez.

The Yoe defense made an important defensive stand late in the fourth quarter as they held the Tigers on the Yoe 4 yard line.

The Yoe Freshmen tried to mount a winning touchdown drive at this point, but on second down quarterback Richard Raymond was dropped for a safety. With 4:08 remaining in the game, Belton led 9-7.

The Yoemen received the break they needed as a host of Yoe defenders blocked a Tiger punt. Mike Barr pounced on the ball on the Tiger 34 yard line. The Yoemen had 2:26 to move 34 yards, but time ran out leaving the Yoe Freshmen at the one yard line.

In Junior Varsity action, Belton dominated play throughout the game and the Yoe effort fell short of its mark.

Belton's first touchdown came on a 3 yard run by halfback Morran, and Morran again scored early in the second period on an 8 yard scamper.

The Yoe JV mounted a potential scoring drive down to the Belton 3 early in the fourth quarter, but it ended when Belton recovered a fumble on their own 3 yard line.

The Yoe defense played a tough second half, and held the Tigers to only one touchdown. The Yoe defense was led by Donald Hanel and Mark Michalka. The final score was 21-0 in favor of Belton.

How To Keep Fish Flavorful

Some persons treat fish in a shameful way, according to a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department official who says his interest in fish is more epicurean than humanitarian.

"Fish is a delicate meat, and it takes the utmost care to keep its fresh flavor," according to Bill Schwartz, the department's seafood marketing specialist.

Whether you catch the fish yourself, or buy it in the store, there are a few common rules which could mean the difference between a successful meal and a disaster, says Schwartz.

"When you go out and spend good money for fresh fish," he says, "eat it as fresh fish. Don't let it sit for more than 24 hours."

Schwartz recommends that if you intend to store fish for later consumption, go ahead and buy frozen fish. It is already packaged correctly.

"When properly thawed, frozen fish can be almost as good as fresh fish," says Schwartz. "But you can't let it sit out at room temperature all day and expect it to taste fresh."

According to Schwartz, frozen fish should be thawed under cold, running water an hour before cooking to preserve flavor.

The same techniques for handling fish should be borne in mind by anglers after a successful fishing trip. Fishermen can preserve the flavor of their fish by getting their catch on ice as soon as possible.

Some freshly caught fish should be set aside for the next meal. The remainder should be gutted, wrapped in freezer paper and frozen as soon as possible. The skin and scales should be left on to protect the fish from freezer burn.

Fish will take up more room in the freezer this way, but they will keep their flavor much better.

Hobby Endorse HMO & Approach To Health Care

By Bill Hobby

Most Texans are aware that medical costs are soaring, up 66 per cent in the last five years alone.

Despite insurance to protect against the financial burdens of illness, consumers pay more than a third of all medical expenses out of their pockets.

Little relief can be expected under our existing system of delivering medical services. The system has been described as "20th century technology shackled to a 19th century delivery process."

A new concept known as Health Maintenance Organizations holds a great deal of promise toward rectifying this situation.

Simple stated, an HMO is merely a group of persons who incorporate to provide their members with all health services for a set fee per month.

Instead of running the gauntlet of doctor, specialist, laboratory, hospital, and pharmacy, a member of an HMO often can receive all of his care under one roof.

Since a Health Maintenance Organization receives a set amount of money each year, it provides the physician with an incentive to keep people well. If a patient can be treated early enough to prevent costly hospitalization, the HMO saves money, and the benefit to the patient is obvious.

Through the economics of mass purchasing and other modern business principles, HMOs provide more comprehensive medical care for less money.

At the state level of government, we must seek solutions to rising medical costs, shortages and maldistribution of health facilities, and inefficient use of manpower. We cannot wait for the federal government to solve this problem.

Experience in other states has shown that HMOs provide improved health care more efficiently than our present system.

A bill authorizing Health Maintenance Organizations in Texas was defeated in the last session of the Legislature. The State Board of Insurance, under the leadership of Chairman Joe Christie, is now studying whether under other legislation, the Board has the authority to approve HMOs.

Weekly Market Report

Frozen turkey prices are up considerably from a year ago.

"However, they will likely decrease some before Thanksgiving," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, predicted.

"Currently, fryer chickens offer a good choice price-wise -- and quality is excellent. At home or away, fried chicken is hard to beat for economy and versatility."

Choose Grade A large-size eggs for the best combination of economy and quality, the specialist suggested.

"Beef prices have trended downward slightly. In general, look for best values on round steaks and roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, beef and calf liver and ground beef."

"With prices gradually decreasing for summer highs, pork values include hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, and end-cut loin roasts and chops."

Don't neglect the dairy case, Mrs. Clyatt advised. Cottage and mozzarella cheese supply protein when using less meat in lasagna -- and tomatoes and cheese take up the slack in spaghetti sauce.

"It's pumpkin season again," the specialist continued. "So enjoy good quality at moderate prices. This versatile item offers something for very meal -- from pumpkin pancakes to pumpkin pie."

"Cabbage celery, carrots sweet potatoes, dry yellow onions, potatoes, head lettuce, hard shell squash, rutabagas, collards, mustard and turnips and greens furnish the best vegetable buys."

First-of-the season prices prevail on cranberries although prices should lower as supplies increase, she added.

"Grapes, bananas, oranges, pineapples, tangelos, apples, tangerines and pears provide other good fruit choices."
